Subject: Rule 3.913

Rule 3.913 is a terrible idea where non attorneys have the right to sign an ex parte order removing children from their parents. How can that possibly be in the children's best interest? The State Bar of MI is way off base if they support this proposed rule. People with no legal training or child development training or mediation training, etc. are not suited to make such monumentally life alternating decisions re. children and families in MI. Taking a child away from a parent(s) cannot be done ill-advisably or in haste. This will certainly lead to all kinds of abuse for children and their families and loss of their rights. Please do not pass this rule. If you do, I predict disaster will happen sooner or later and then public outcry will be heard. Thank you.
